Level 3 Extended Diploma in Creative Media Production

"Before coming to college, I knew I wanted to work in film and TV. The teachers here are really helpful and they've taught me how to do it, but in a way that it's mostly me learning it, rather than them doing it for me."

Alumni Focus

Jamal Edwards, MBE studied Creative Media at Ealing Green College back in 2009, where he launched his SBTV YouTube channel now worth over £8m.

“I remember having access to cool equipment like the TV studio - things like that really helped me when I was at College. It’s important to me that they’re still supporting the students with more equipment to boost their creativity.”
